ROPES AS FIRE ESCAPES.

An Experience Which Shook One Man's Confidence in Them.
"Yes, I know that most of the boys carry a rope around with 'em," said the commercial traveler, "and the time was when I would not have taken the road without one, but I gave mine to my wife for an extra clothesline three or four years ago. I read occasionally of a rope saving somebody from a burning hotel, but I don't care to be saved that way."
"But you don't want to be burned with the hotel, do you?" was asked.
"Of course not, but if I can't get down by the stairs or the iron fire escape I'll take my chances on a mattress or a fireman's ladder."
"But what's the matter with a knotted rope?"
"I didn't think anything was the matter for many years. I used to go to bed feeling as safe as a baby in his crib, and if I found a traveler who didn't carry a fifty foot rope in his grip I set him down as a very reckless man.
One day when I was in an Indiana town a lot of us got to talking about ropes and burning hotels, and a wall eyed bluffer offered to bet me $5 to $1 that I couldn't slide down my rope from a third story window and not half kill myself. Of course I jumped at the bet, but he knew what he was talking about. I hadn't lowered my self six feet before the rope burned my hands and I let go and broke a leg.
The trick was tried by three others and though they escaped broken bones they were badly shaken up and tongue bitten. After my leg mended I bluffed everybody I met on that rope business, and I never found a chap who could slide down two stories and feel good for a month after. A sailor could do it, of course, but I'm no sailor, and if ever I'm cut off by fire I'll take a header for the sidewalk and hope to hit a fat man as I come down."—Exchange.

PAPERING THE PINS.

An Ingenious Operation That Is Performed by Machinery.
The first pins made in this country were very crude indeed, merely a bit of wire twisted into a knot for a head at one end and sharpened to a point at the other. Their successors of today undergo a surprising variety of operations before they are considered fit for use.
In comparison with the size of the object manufactured the operations seem bewilderingly numerous, but if there be one process more remarkable than another it is "papering the pins." The papers, having been passed through an ingenious machine which, at regular intervals, according to the size of the pin, pinches up a fold and pricks a hole in it, are ready to receive the pins.
For this purpose there is another machine, worked by two children. One feeds the pins, the other the papers.
The first part of the machine is a box about twelve inches long, six broad and four deep. The bottom is composed of small square steel bars, sufficiently far apart to let the shank of the pin fall through, but not the head. These bars are just as thick as the space between papered pins. The lower part of the bottom of the box is made to detach itself as soon as the row of pins is complete. Row after row, at regular intervals, is received and passed down a corresponding set of grooves until it reaches the ready pricked paper. By the nicest possible adjustment these pins come exactly to their places and are pressed into them. By this method two little girls can in one day put up many thousands of papers—Kansas City Star.

Her Right.
"What right has she to star?" asked the envious Thespian.
"The best right in the theatrical world," was the reply. "She has secured an 'angel'."—Chicago Post.

To complain of destiny is only to expose our own feebleness of soul—Masterlinck.

Prosperity gets followers, but adversity distinguishes them.

WISE MEN'S MISTAKES.

Some of the Querer Blunders Made by Famous Writers.
Now and then one meets with passages in the works of the most celebrated authors which display an ignorance of things that every schoolboy is supposed to know.
Sir Walter Scott in his "Heart of Midlothian" speaks of his heroine as having "the merit of those peace-makers to whom it is pronounced as a benediction that they shall inherit the earth." Born and bred and passing his life in Bible reading Scotland, Sir Walter was yet ignorant of the fact that it was to the meek that the inheritance of the earth was promised, and the benediction of the peace-makers was that "they shall be called the children of God."
Dickens in his "Tale of Two Cities" says "the name of the strong man of old Scripture descended to the chief functionary who worked the guilotine." One does not have to be a profound student of the French revolution to know that the notorious executioner who chopped off heads in the Place de la Revolution was named Sanson and not Samson.
The lowest pupil in the lowest class in history in the public schools knows that it was Balboa who discovered the Pacific ocean, yet Keats in his immortal sonnet "On First Looking into Chapman's Homer" makes Cortes the man who stood "silent upon a peak in Darwin" and saw the great "south sea" stretching away before him.
The great Gibbon, who was so intolerant of the errors of other men, speaks in his "Roman Empire" of "the Oxus and the Jaxartes, two rivers of ancient renown which descend from the mountains of India toward the Caspian sea." Yet every school geography shows that the two rivers flow into the sea of Aral, and the Jaxartes most certainly rises in no "mountains of India." Shakespeare wrote of "the coast of Bohemia," and in his "Gertrude of Wyandott" Campbell had tigers prowling through the jungles of Pennsylvania.
Such "ignorance in high places" cannot be excused, for, with ordinary ease, Gibbon, Shakespeare and Campbell could have ascertained the facts.

He Knew a Way.
Anxious Father—But, my boy, unless you study you will know nothing. You will make no money with which to buy things.
Young Hopeful—That's nothing. I'll have everything charged, and I'll keep on that way till I get married.—Megendorfer Blatter.

Men of Oak

Timbers of oak keep the old the years. It pays to use the right stuff.

"Men of oak" are men in rugged health, men whose bodies are made of the soundest materials.
Childhood is the time to lay the foundation for a sturdy con-

JOCKEYS IN TRAINING

KEEPING THE WEIGHT DOWN IS NOT A DIFFICULT PROBLEM.
Fattening Foods Are Avoided, and Judicious Exercise Is Counted—As a Rule, Riders Last a Dozen Years and as a Class Are Not Saving.
"It is a popular belief," a well known trainer said to a reporter recently, "that a jockey has to resort to all sorts of injurious practices in order to keep his weight within required limits. The idea, however, is a far stretched one.
Of course a jockey has to go through certain exercises each day and has to be very much more careful regarding what he puts in his stomach than most people in order to keep his weight down and from acquiring a superfluity of flesh, but he certainly does not starve himself, as is generally supposed. If he did so he would break down entirely in a very short time. A jockey must also be in the best possible physical trim and have his wits about him before a race, and to attain that he must be careful how he uses his constitution." There are two very important things a jockey has to consider in studying his game. He must see to it that his food is of the best quality and that he contains practically no flesh forming properties. All such fattening foods as, for instance, soups, beef, pork, potatoes, puddings and pastries a jockey must deny himself. Coffee, tea or other drinks are only taken very moderately, as all liquids help more or less in putting on flesh.
"Although a jockey has to eschew such foods, there are many other varieties which he gets just as much pleasure in eating and which at the same time are equally as good and strengthening for his constitution. A few days before a race a jockey who has a mount in it will not stint himself—provided he has no fear of overtopping his proper weight for the race—in any thing which he thinks will not interfere with his digestive apparatus.
"Some jockeys, of course, take on and lose flesh quicker than others. I have known one or two who were particularly anxious to ride in certain races, but for which they were perhaps as much as eight or nine pounds too heavy, who reduced that weight in the same number of days. To accomplish that, however, they have to resort practically to a 'starving diet,' leaving as little as the strain on the vitality will permit without breaking down and trying to reduce their overweight by certain sweating exercises. It is needless to say that no jockey could stand too frequent repetitions of such severe measures to subtract from his weight without danger of permanently injuring his health and even sacrificing his life; still, many willingly resort to such 'get light weight quick' methods where they see good opportunities of making a name or a pile of money for themselves.
"It must be remembered that by natural jockeys as a whole are not of supernatural physique or imposing in height, although they are as tough as whipcord. If they were, therefore, to indulge every day in the heavy bill of fare that the average business or working man partakes of it is not probable that they would increase much in weight or height. You often see jockeys in the big hotels and restaurants at the various racing seasons after a race tucking in big and expensive new suits with a gusto and a relish that would give a chronic dyspeptic an appetite for hard tack.
"Walking, running, cycling, punching the bag and hurdle jumping are favorite exercises among jockeys to keep their weight down. On going out for a walk or run they wrap themselves in the thickest of woolen sweaters and other heavy clothing, no matter how high the temperature may be, and the exercise is kept up for a distance, or as perhaps of eight or nine miles, for they seldom slept more than twenty minutes and told us that his restlessness at night continued. One afternoon he came in positively drowsy. To a friend he said:
"I feel as though I could sleep for a week, but I can't sleep in my own home—no. Find me a bed here!"
"We got him upstairs to a room and put a man on guard at the door, with instructions to see that no servant was allowed to disturb him or make a noise.
An hour or so afterward an accident in the kitchen brought the fire engines up to the door. There was really no danger, but before a ladder could be raised poor Blank's body came tumbling into the area.
"He was killed. Suicide? No. It was the opinion of all of us that sudden awakening from the first sound sleep he had enjoyed for more than a year upset his mind and that when he was awakened by the noise he did not realize where he was. In a frenzy he leaped from the window."—New York Times.
Chinese Scandal Merchants.
In China there is a profession for ladies, strange because openly and handsomely remunerated in the current coin of the realm. It is carried on by elderly ladies, who go from house to house of rich people, announcing their coming by beating a drum and offering their services to amuse the lady of the house. This offer accepted, they sit down and tell her the latest scandal and the newest stories and on dits and are rewarded at the rate of half a crown an hour, besides a handsome present should some portion of their gossip have proved particularly acceptable.—London Tit-Bits.
Natural Inquiry.
He—I'd like to meet Miss Bond.
She—Why?
"I hear she has thirty thousand a year and no incumbency."
"Is she looking for one?"—Life.

CARE FOR SLEEPERS

A CLUB WHERE DOZING MEMBERS ARE NEVER DISTURBED.
There is a Good Reason For This Custom, Which Is Not Allowed to Be Violated—A Short Sleep Which Culminated in a Tragedy.
There is an exclusive club in upper New York where the employees are for-bidden from awakening any member who drops asleep in his chair in the library or sitting room. If a visitor inquires for him he is "out." Other members, if they see him, carry on their conversation in low tones or go to the smoking room or cafe. Very few new members are admitted to the club, but those who are fortunate enough to get in or those who bring visitors are reminded of this custom.
A physician who belongs to the club explained the reason of it. "It is wrong under any circumstances," he said, "to awaken a man who has fallen into a natural sleep. How do you know but it is the first time he has been able to sleep for hours or even days? This phenomenon of sleep is a very complicated one. There are many grades of sleep, and they affect different men in different ways. Dreams are the result of defective or partial sleep, and their common occurrence in the lighter varieties of the state shows that the rest taken by most persons is not profound or continuous even while it lasts.
"Don't you know that scores of persons in New York take a long trolley ride in the evening simply to produce a feeling of sleepiness? If a man looks straight ahead of him or reads a newspaper his ride will do him little good.
He might as well remain at home on his front porch. But if he looks about him, constantly shifting his gaze from one scene to another, he gets into a state of drowsiness such as is brought about by artificial means when it is called hypnotism. That is why so many men feel like dozing in the club after they come in from a ride or a drive in the park.
"Sleep induced by overeating is not natural. The brought about by stimulants is nothing but blind poisoning and stupor. It may be desirable and even necessary in some cases to produce this stupor. But the state into which the brain is thrown is not sleep.
If natural sleep follows, it is a contingency and not the effect of the stimulant. But I was going to tell you a story, not deliver a medical lecture. I must not mention names, but many old club men of New York will remember the tragedy.
"There was a man who was quite prominent both in a business and social way, in the life of this city. A dreadful family misfortune brought on insomnia. He would sometimes go forty-eight hours without sleep; then after a normal night or two he would not be able to sleep for a week. All his life until his trouble came upon him he had been habitually a heavy sleeper. After two or three months of this insomnia attack his health began to give way. Physicians tried all the usual means of overcoming the difficulty, but failed. He was prescribed sleeping draughts until it became dangerous to continue them longer.
"Then he went to Europe, taking a competent young physician of my acquaintance as companion. Specialists abroad prescribed walking and mountain climbing, but they discovered that there is nothing to be gained by increasing the fatigue of the body when worry of mind will not allow the repose to which the limbs are entitled.
The man came home little the better for his trip. He retired from business.
His strength wasted away.
"Finally he was one of those curious freaks of nature, occasionally encountered by doctors at the club. All who knew his misfortune sympathized with him. We moved about as though in a sick chamber until he awoke. He seldom slept more than twenty minutes and told us that his restlessness at night continued. One afternoon he came in positively drowsy. To a friend
he said:
"I feel as though I could sleep for a week, but I can't sleep in my own
home—no. Find me a bed here!"
allowed to disturb him or make a noise.
up to the door. There was really no
into the area.
"He was killed. Suicide? No. It
sleep he had enjoyed for more than a
leaped from the window."—New York

"Anglo-Saxon English."
There is an old fallacy that Anglo-Saxon words are the best. The fallacy is based on the belief that words of Anglo-Saxon origin are more simple and vigorous than those derived from Latin. In point of fact, some Anglo-Saxon words are obscure and long, and many of our commonest, most simple words are from the Latin. The London News tells a story in point.
A barrister more remarkable for the vigor of his address to juries than for his learning was commenting on the proceeding of the other party in a case under trial.
"I do not know what gloss my learned friend is going to put upon this matter, but I will not mince my words.
I denounce it in plain, downright Anglo-Saxon as a nefarious transaction."
Early Mention of Niagara Falls.
The first historical notices of Niagara falls are given in Leisearbot's record of the second voyage of Jacques Cartier, in the year 1535. On the maps published to illustrate Champlain's discoveries (date of maps either 1613 or 1614) the falls are indicated by a cross, but no description of the wonderful catastrophe is given, and the best geographical authorities living today doubt if the explorer mentioned ever saw the falls. Brinton's work to the contrary notwithstanding. Father Hennepin is believed to have written the first description of the falls that was ever penning by one who had personally visited the spot.
Solemn Warning.
Uncle Archie—Have you formed an opinion as to the cause of Colonel Hix-that the unhappy young man ran away and was never heard of afterward.—

JUMPING UP

Is a great deal harder than jumping down. And yet people who are born for years running down in health expect to jump back at once. It takes years generally to make a man a confirmed dyspeptic, and he cannot expect to be cured in a few days.
There is no quicker means of cure for dyspepsia or other forms of stomach trouble than by the use of Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.
"I was taken sick two years ago," writes Rev. W. H. Patterson of White Cloud, Ark. "I what the doctors thought was gastric trouble, indigestion or nervous dyspepsia, also constipation and inactive liver.
I was in a dreadful condition.
I tried several different doctors with but little result. I had gotten so feeble that I was almost past traveling about; had lost all my strength. I went and bought six bottles of Golden Medical Discovery, and got the 'Pellets' and began following directions. When I had taken about five bottles I felt very much better and was greatly improved. I weighed one hundred and thirty-eight pounds. I will say that Dr. Pierce's medicines are a God-sent to poor suffering humanity, and I advise any and all chronic sufferers to give them a fair trial and they will be saved."
Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

STILL CARPING.

Our cotemporaries continue to be flooded with a lot of stuff anent the appeal of the justice's salary case to the supreme court. The shades of Ceasar and Alexander have been appealed to in the frenzied effort to stay further proceedings. We presume before the sluices are finally exhausted, the rest of the worthies of ancient history will be called upon to interpose in this high behalf. If the same tactics which have been resorted to in this salary matter had been tried in any other litigation, they would have called down upon the would-be obstructionists the condemnation of an outraged public. The amazing part of it is, the justices and constables are held up by our cotemporaries and editors pro tem as martyrs. The supervisors will not pay them their fee bills, and the auditor will not pay them salaries, until he is satisfied by the decision of the highest judicial tribunal that he is justified in so doing. Even if this were true—which it is not, as the offer has been made to allow them their fees on account, and the offer refused—they have themselves to blame for the plight in which they are placed. Were they not in high glee when the salary bill was before the legislature? Were they not hand in glove working for its passage? It was common talk at that time that its constitutionality was a matter of serious doubt if the present incumbents were made the beneficiaries of the measures. But notwithstanding this, they were more than anxious to line up under its questionable provisions. Were there not at the time it was before the lawmakers, petitions circulated with the view of booming it into popularity, even in spite of its apparently contraband character. Were not articles published at that time by its supporters urging that the law be left in the hands of the supervisors, and not be taken to the courts for interpretation? The methods that have been following since the mandamus proceedings were started have been on a par with these initiatory steps. Everything had been done to create an impression that it is an act bordering on treason to think of taking the case to the supreme court. To such an extreme has the appeal been fought, that a wide-spread suspicion is creeping over the public mind of wheels working within wheels in this program of hindrance. Blunder has succeeded blunder; folly piled on folly to close up the pathway of appeal. But all in vain. The Alexander has not grown so great as to be able to dictate absolutely the policy of Amador county in such matters. The weakness and vacillating course of the no-appeal side, is in striking contrast with the firm and resolute stand of those whose business it is to do what they can to protect the public interests. In the face of a great deal that calls for censure; in the presence of abuse alike uncalled for and unmerited, the one redeeming feature of this comedy of errors is the fact that the district attorney and county auditor remain immovable as rock in place, determined to carry the controversy to the tribunal which has been instituted specially for the final settlement of such questions.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

Parents may not be aware that by a law passed by the last legislature the attendance of children between the ages of 8 and 14 upon the public school is made compulsory. Every child is required to attend for at least five months during the year, and at least eighteen weeks of the attendance must be consecutive. Any parent or guardian failing to comply with this law is guilty of a misdemeanor. For the first offense the penalty is not to exceed $10 fine or imprisonment not exceeding five days. A subsequent offense is punishable by a fine not less than $10 nor more than $50, or imprisonment not less than five nor more than 25 days, or both. It is the province of constables in their respective townships to see that this law is complied with. The percentage of children failing to take advantage of the liberal education provided by the state is large. Our free school system—the most liberal and thorough vouchsafed by any government—is not appreciated as it should be. It is to correct the growing evil of non-attendance that this stringent law was passed.

THE ISSUE EXPLAINED.

As interested parties are doing their utmost to create a false impression regarding the issue involved in the township officers salary bill, which is moving up to the supreme court from this county, it is not out of place to state the case plainly at this time. The idea is given out that justices and constables are being unjustly denied any compensation either under the old fee law or the new salary bill, by the arbitrary action of the auditor. That they are compelled, on account of his stand, to either work for nothing, pending the decision of the matter on appeal, or resign their offices. This is not the case, and never has been the case. It is nothing more than an effort to awaken sympathy, and deceive the public as regards the real issue. No one denies that the justices and constables are entitled to compensation; if not under the salary law, they are still entitled to pay under the fee system. This is conceded. There is no dispute on this proposition, and any attempt to sow a different impression is prompted by ulterior motives. A bill was passed by the last legislature changing the pay of township officers from fees to a stated salary. Bills of a similar character had been passed for other counties it is true; but as far as we have been able to ascertain the constitutional provision prohibiting an increase of compensation of "any official during his term of office," was respected in all of them, and the act was made to take effect at the commencement of the next term. But the bill boosting the compensation of township officers in Amador county took a different course. It was by the terms of the bill itself made to take effect immediately. All the then existing township officers, elected under an entirely different schedule of compensation, were at once clamoring to be taken in under its liberal folds. The bill itself was deliberately and wilfully designed to set aside the constitutional restriction bearing on this question. Had the advocates of the bill been content with making it applicable to the next official term, no question would have been raised as to its validity. The wisdom of the law even then may have been doubted, but the constitutional objection would not have been raised. We venture to say that neither the county auditor nor the district attorney has the slightest personal feeling in the matter. They are both as anxious for the justices and constables to get what they are legally entitled to as those officers are themselves. The offer has been made that their bills under the fee system be allowed by the supervisors as heretofore, and paid by the treasurer, pending the outcome of the appeal of this case. If the auditor wins on appeal, they would then have received all they were entitled to; if the township officers win out, they would then be entitled to additional pay sufficient to make up the amount of salary due under the salary bill. Why this arrangement has not been made we are unable to explain. The fault for its miscarriage does not rest with the appellant side of this controversy. Realizing, however, that the salary bill, with the "take effect immediately" clause tacked thereto, strikes down one of the vitally important provisions of the state constitution, the auditor and district attorney deem it their duty under the solemnity of their official oaths, and for the protection of the county and their bondsmen, and in fact of all parties concerned, to have the controversy solved by the higher court. That is all there is to it. Instead of waiting at the county of officers for taking this course, the justices and constables, and their friends, ought to hail with satisfaction the prospect of a definite and complete settlement of the points involved.

The Dinner Hour.
It is a curious fact that with almost every generation the dinner hour has undergone a change, the principal meal of the day being eaten at different periods, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night. The author of "The Pleasures of the Table" points out that in England 400 or 500 years ago people took four meals—breakfast at 7, dinner at 10, supper at 4 and 4 and 4 in France in the thirteenth century 9 in the morning was the dinner hour; Henry VII. dined at 11. In Cromwell's time 1 o'clock had come to be the fashionable hour and in Addison's day 2 o'clock, which gradually was transformed into 4. Pope found fault with Lady Suffolk for dining so late as 4. Four and 5 continued to be the popular dining hours among the aristocracy until the second decade of the nineteenth century, when dinner was further postponed, from which period it has steadily continued to encroach upon the evening.

Monkey and Parrot in Brazil.
In Brazil monkeys and parrots have interests in common. They not only root in the same trees, but work for mutual benefit. The monkeys cannot easily pick the big Brazil nut husks from the trees, so the parrots gnaw them loose, allowing them to drop, then the monkeys tear the cracked husks asunder, gather the nuts and divide them with the parrots. Sometimes, when the husks fall to split, the monkeys carry them up to the highest limbs of the tree and let them drop again. Monkey and parrot enjoy their harvest side by side.

THE TAX LEVY.

The board of supervisors has fixed the tax levy for the current year at $2 on the $100. While this is five cents in excess of the rate last year, it is not so high as was expected several weeks ago. The increase is attributable entirely to the jump of 18 cents in the state tax. Two things have contributed to keep down the levy, namely, first the enormous increase of taxable property throughout the state, and the further inflation of values in many counties by the arbitrary action of the state board of equalizers; second, the increase of the county's assessment roll as returned by the county assessor. In 1902 the assessment roll of Amador county was $4,618,830; in 1903 the figures are $4,916,533, or an increase of nearly $300,000. Last year the total revenue from property taxes, assuming that all dues were collected, was in round numbers $90,000, while this year the amount is $98,000. The increase of $8000, however, is entirely due to the raise of 18 cents in the state rate as compared with last year. All the local funds show a slight decrease of probable revenue when compared with the levy of 1902, except the hospital and school funds, both of which demand and are allowed enhanced revenue. To show the changes in the tax levy for the various purposes, we herewith give for the sake of comparison, the rates levied in 1902 and 1903, as follows:

	1902	1903
State fund.....	38.2	56.1
Current expense.....	60	51.9
Hospital.....	15	17
School.....	32	32
General road.....	35.8	33
Special road.....	14	10
Total.....	$1.95	$2.00

To enable our readers to have a clear idea of the sum required for the different funds, we submit the following table showing the revenue by the tax levy for the several funds for 1902 and 1903:

	1902	1903
State fund.....	18,483	27,581
Current expense.....	27,712	28,117
Hospital.....	6,928	8,357
Schools.....	14,779	15,782
Roads.....	16,534	16,223

In the estimated needs for the ensuing year, upon which the rates were fixed by the supervisors, the proposed change in the mode of compensating township officers, from fees to salaries, does not figure. It was calculated that the increased expense, in the event of the salary idea prevailing, would not affect the forthcoming year, as the case in the supreme court will hardly be decided until far into next year. This must be born in mind. If that expense was a certainty to be reckoned with, it would have made a difference of 10 cents additional in the levy.

The financial report of the auditor was received and approved, showing the total assessment roll to be $4,916,533.

Tom Francis, a nephew of J. B. Francis, while working in the Kennedy last Friday night, was struck by a falling rock. The rock weighed about a ton, and it grazed his left leg below the knee, bruising it so as to render a lay-off for a week or two imperative. Dr. Gall is attending the case.

Chas. Smith, the experienced millman of Sutter Creek, returned last week from a seven months' experience in Mexico. He has been running a quartz mill in lower California, situated about 70 miles from Magdalena bay. The old brick vault in the Bank aloon, built in early days as a repository for valuables, was torn down this week. The space it occupied was more valuable for other purposes. Indeed the vault has served no useful purpose or the past twenty years. Chez Ardito is glad to be rid of it; he has been urging its removal for years.

Last Sunday there was another casualty in a game of baseball, this time near Jackson Gate. The court room has been refitted in a very tasty manner under the deft management of George Luce. The ceiling and walls have been repapered, the walls being of a dark green shade, and the ceiling of a bright and suitable design. Inside the railing a new carpet has been laid, and over the judge's seat a new canopy has been raised. Altogether the court room presents as attractive and neat appearance as any county in the state can boast of. The judge's chambers have also been renovated in an equally attractive manner, to correspond with the court room.

Geo. Troin, who was struck on the baseball ground at the labor day picnic, is still suffering considerably as the outcome of the injuries received that day. His jaw was swollen to such an extent for several days after the occurrence, that a thorough examination could not be made until the swelling had somewhat subsided. Dr. Gall was over in Amador City last Sunday, and was called in consultation. The lower jaw was found to be fractured; two or three teeth were removed. Altogether he was severely shaken up, but is getting along toward recovery as fast as could be expected.

At the last meeting of the Calaveras board of supervisors, Garbarini Bros. of Jackson were awarded the contract for building a bridge across Esperanza creek, near Jesus Maria. There were four bidders, namely, James A. McMahon, $1442; Cotton Bros., $1487; W. S. Wain of Ione, $942; and Garbarini Bros., $924. Besides securing this contract, the Jackson firm was employed to repair the bridges of our sister county that are in need of repairs. Henry Garbarini was through Calaveras county week before last examining the bridges, and found several of them to be badly in need of repairs, and so reported to the board.

W. T. Robinson, the veteran mining man of Mokelumne Hill, was in Jackson Saturday. He is at present operating the Stockton hill gravel claim near Mokelumne Hill. This was very rich in early days, but has not been worked for years. Several companies have tried to work it since, but did not succeed in making it pay. The Colonel is sanguine of the outcome of the present operations. He says if the yield averages one dollar per ton there is big money in it, as the auriferous gravel and cement deposit is of vast extent. The Colonel is an indefatigable worker, and it is the sincere hope of his many friends that he will "strike it rich."

Jas. E. Dye, jun., made a flying trip to Jackson this week, to interview his many friends in Amador. He accompanied his mother from Seattle to San Francisco, and on arrival in the city he thought he would run up to see the people of Amador county. He arrived Sunday night and left again Tuesday morning. He is living in Seattle with his brother Harry, who holds the responsible position of cashier of a bank. James E. Dye holds a responsible and lucrative government position, one that is not dependent upon politics. We are pleased to announce his success, and the news will be very gratifying to his many acquaintances hereabouts.

THE DRYTOWN HOMICIDE.

Preliminary Examination of M. Ferrari for the Killing of Antonio Sampo.

The preliminary examination of M. Ferrari for the killing of Antonio Sampo was held before Justice H. Goldner in Jackson on Wednesday, in the sheriff's office. District Attorney C. P. Vicini conducted the case for the prosecution, and A. Caminetti appeared for the defendant. The only eye-witness of the fracas which led to the death of Sampo was A. Gazzino. The encounter took place at the boarding house of M. Cavallero in Drytown, about midnight. After the evening meal, the witness stated, half a dozen men were gathered round a table on the back porch of the boarding house, engaged in playing a game of cards, called three sevens. Four played at a time. The two principals in the quarrel that ensued, were in the game from start to finish. As the night wore on, some of the players retired, leaving Ferrari and Sampo in the game, with Gazzino as the only onlooker, who waited upon them, bringing them a bottle of wine. Other bottles stood upon the table. The night was dark, but a solitary candle furnished illumination. Sampo was a taller and larger man than Ferrari. The witness stated that toward midnight Sampo became angry, and made a remark, striking the table with his fist in an excited manner. Ferrari said he had a sore foot and did not want to quarrel. Sampo raised from his seat and called the other man a fool. Ferrari then put in a remark which seemingly raised the ire of the deceased to the breaking point, saying, "this shirt was cleaner than his." At this Sampo jumped up, and passed quickly to the side of the table where Ferrari was, and attempted to strike him with his fist. Ferrari threw himself back and dodged the blow, and took up a bottle from the table and struck Sampo with the thick part of it over the left eye. Gazzino took Sampo home after receiving the blow. He was able to walk, although he assisted him home to some extent. On his return to the Cavallero boarding house, Sampo also reappeared there a few minutes afterward. The victim did not go to work the day following the midnight row. He saw him that day with his head bandaged. He went to his work at the Fremont the second day after the affair. Witness could not tell the date of his death or when the doctor was called.

The examination was continued until next week, owing to the defendant's attorney having to leave for the city for a few days.

Blue Rock Shooting.

Last Sunday on Dwyer's hill there was blue rock shooting during the afternoon for prizes. At the miners' picnic on labor day there were two barrels of blue rocks left over, so the shooting Sunday was arranged by the Jackson Miners' Union to dispose of them. Two prizes were offered. First prize, a carving set of three pieces; second prize, a silver hunting cup. No entrance fee was charged. The affair attracted a large number of sports, and the shooting was kept up from two o'clock until nearly six. Herbert Meeks captured the first prize, with a score of 21 out of 25 birds. For the second prize there were three ties, C. Valvo, A. Grainger and M. Nixon, each making a score of 19. Grainger beat Valvo in deciding the tie, and Nixon conceded the prize to Grainger. Herbert Meeks, the first prize winner, selected the hunting gun in preference to the carving set. The knife set therefore fell to the second prize winner.

FATAL ACCIDENT

AT ZEILA MINE

Joseph Gregor Falls 700 Feet in the Zeila Shaft.—Gloom Cast Over the Whole Community at Tragic End.

An accident which sent a thrill of horror through the community happened at the Zeila mine on Thursday evening, causing the instantaneous death of one of the oldest and most efficient employees. About 5 o'clock the skip was ascending the shaft, full of employees who were through with their day's work. Among them was Jos. Gregor, shift boss and timberman. Gregor with two others was standing on the edge of the skip, holding on to the cable, while the skip was filled with employees. This is the usual way of lowering down or hoisting men from the mine. About half way up, on this particular trip, it was noticed that something was amiss with the bell wire. This wire is a small cable, about a quarter of an inch in diameter, and composed of a number of strands of small wires. It is the only means of communication between those in the shaft and the engineer. Even while in the act of ascending the shaft it is possible in case of emergency to signal to the engineer by means of the bell wire. Above the 700 level it was realized from the amount of slack that the wire had parted some distance above. It became at once a source of danger to those riding on the skip. While there is a plenty about the cable, there is also sufficient stiffness about it to cause it to remain in the shaft and coil up as the skip continued to ascend. There was the bell wire in the other compartment, but this was beyond reach. There is no doubt the unfortunate victim realized the situation, and tried to avert the disaster which followed. The precise way he lost his balance and fell is not known. He was riding on that side of the shaft where the broken wire would cause the most danger. Whether in trying to push the slack wire away, or whether he endeavored to escape by the centre brace, we cannot say. He was noticed to fall backward, and disappear in the shaft. The shaft is an incline, over 1300 feet deep. Death, or at least unconsciousness, probably ensued before the victim had fallen many feet. The body went into the sump, which contained considerable water. The skip was lowered as soon as possible. Some articles of clothing belonging to deceased were found at the 900 level. The work of unwatring the sump was prosecuted with all possible speed, and about nine o'clock the body was recovered. The news of the sad event spread over the town in a few minutes, and at the time the body was brought to the surface, a crowd of people, estimated at several hundred, gathered at the mouth of the shaft, mournfully watching the proceedings. The remains were mutilated sadly, especially about the head. They were taken to the deceased's residence on Stump street, near Marre's hotel.

Deceased was 39 years of age, a native of England. He leaves a wife and two children, the oldest a girl of ten years, the other a boy five years old. Mrs. Gregor was distracted with grief when the terrible news was broken to her. For some time she was hysterical. Deceased had been working at the Zeila for over sixteen years. He was an expert workman, and one of the trusted employees of the company. He was moreover universally esteemed by his fellow workmen. His untimely and tragic end has cast a gloom over the community such as has not been experienced for years.

Coroner Huberty is holding an inquest this afternoon as we go to press. The jurors were out this morning to view the body, and also at the mine. Some of them went down the shaft and examined the bell wire. To all outward appearance the wire was sound, and its defective character could not be detected until revealed by a break. The funeral is announced to take place to-morrow afternoon. Deceased was a member of the K. of P. and A. O. U. W. organizations. He was also a member of Jackson Miners' Union, W. F. of M., of which organization he was elected a trustee at the election held last month.

Superintendent Riddick Resigns.

The San Francisco Chronicle says that J. B. Riddick, who for the past four years has filled the responsible position of superintendent of the Prison Reform school at Ione, has sent in his resignation, to take effect in December next. With many who desire the welfare of this institution, this action on the part of the superintendent will be regretted. The place is an arduous one; not every good man can manage a reformatory of this kind with credit. It must be admitted that under Dr. Riddick's care the school has been free from the rumors of scandal and mismanagement that have marked it in previous years. The boys have been contented and happy; the attempts to escape have been few. That he has not pleased everybody is not to be wondered at. That feat is beyond the reach of human accomplishment. Public interests will be well served if his successor proves as capable and efficient in the management of the school as the retiring superintendent has proved himself.

Dr. Phelps feelingly responded. During the evening Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. Zumbiel, and Miss Eva Leak sang a solo each, and the Rev. F. A. Morrow addressed the audience. Light refreshments were afterward served, and the company broke up about 11 o'clock, everyone pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Burned by A Live Wire.

This morning, about 10 o'clock, Jas. M. Stamps, employed as a lineman by the Standard Electric Company, was severely and perhaps fatally burned by coming in contact with a live wire. As far as we can learn from the meager particulars received, the victim was engaged in soldering, and came in contact with a live wire carrying 2000 volts. He was terribly burned about the arm and leg and one side. Dr. Endicott repaired to the scene. We learn that the victim will be taken to the city today for treatment. His case is a critical one, and recovery is doubtful. Stamps is a single man, about 30 years of age, and has been in the employ of the Standard Company for about three years.
